

What do you think is down the hole?

How would you describe it?

What do other people in your family think is down the hole?